Public Will Decide

QUEBEC CITY (UPI)—Premier Maurice Duplessis indicated yesterday he would leave it up to the people of Quebec to pass judgment on whether he should appeal a recent Supreme Court of Canada ruling to the Privy Council in London.

The Supreme Court ruled in a majority decision last Jan. 27 that Duplessis must pay $33,123 damages, plus interest, to Frank Roncarelli for illegally ordering the Quebec liquor commission to cancel the former Montreal restaurateur's liquor permit in 1946.

Duplessis could appeal the ruling because the case was initiated in the Quebec courts before Canada abolished appeals to the Privy Council.

Duplessis issued a 500-word statement yesterday commenting on the case, but did not say whether he would appeal.

The statement said "should I go in appeal in England before the Privy Council? I have the intimate conviction that under the circumstances this matter comes particularly under the great tribunal of the public opinion of the province of Quebec."

Temperance Forces Upset By 'Blue Cow'

RED DEER (CP) — The Gateway, undergraduate newspaper at the Univeristy of Alberta, came under fire Tuesday at the annual meeting of the Associated Temperance Forces of Alberta.

Rev. A. L. Sanderson, general secretary of the association, criticized The Gateway's editorial policy of urging its student readers to stamp out the Women's Christian Temperance Union. He referred to an editorial signed "Blue Cow."

Mr. Sanderson called for immediate action to curb more widespread drinking and endorsed membership in the newly-formed Total Abstinence Association.

"Canadians are drinking more than they are earning. There are at least 1,000,000 persons in Canada who are addicted to alcohol and about 200,000 of them are total slaves," he said.

The preference for Hennessy is no accident

It's fine quality that makes Hennessy the biggest selling brandy in Canada. Quality that comes from the world's largest stocks of fine old brandies, blended with French finesse. Keep Hennessy handy — for emergency, for enjoyment.
